

Complaint about the council

How to complain to the Local Government Ombudsman

This leaflet is available in large print, Braille, on tape, and in the following languages:

Bengali

Gujarati

Hindi

Punjabi

Urdu

Arabic

Chinese

Greek

Turkish

Vietnamese

Your local council, library or Citizens Advice Bureau may have copies in these formats and languages, or you can get them direct from one of our offices. You can also get the versions in ethnic minority languages from our website, www.lgo.org.uk

We will also do our best to help people who do not speak English and whose first language is not listed above. For more information call our Adviceline on 0845 602 1983.

(Please note that calls may be recorded for training and quality purposes.)

This leaflet refers to ‘councils’ and ‘councillors’, but it applies to all the authorities listed in section 3 and to their members.

1 What does the Local Government Ombudsman do?

This leaflet will help you make a complaint to the Local Government Ombudsman. It does not tell you every detail about what the Ombudsman does, because it is sometimes complex and we do not want to mislead. We will give you more information after we receive your complaint. However, if you decide that you do want to know more before you send in your complaint, please call our Adviceline on 0845 602 1983 and ask for a copy of How the Ombudsman will deal with your complaint or see our website, www.lgo.org.uk

We investigate complaints about councils and the other authorities listed in section 3. We aim to get them to put things right if the council has got them wrong and if this has affected you directly.

In our investigations:

- we do not take sides;
- our service is free; and
- we respect your privacy – although we have to give a copy of your complaint to the council.

After you have read this leaflet, if you are still not sure what to do next about your complaint, you can contact our Adviceline on 0845 602 1983.

2 Do you need special help to use our service?

We have arrangements to help you if you have difficulty using our service, for example if you have a disability or if English is not your first language. For instance, if you need an interpreter, we can arrange this. We can also produce letters and reports in large print, in Braille or on tape. Phone our Adviceline on 0845 602 1983.

* Please note that calls may be recorded for training and quality purposes.

3 Which authorities can you complain about?

You can complain to us about the following authorities.

- Councils (district, borough, city or county, but not town or parish).
- Education appeal panels.
- School governing bodies (admission matters only).
- School organisation committees.
- Joint boards of local authorities.
- National park authorities.
- Fire authorities.
- Police authorities (but not about the investigation or prevention of crime).
- Internal drainage boards.
- The Greater London Authority.
- The London Transport Users' Committee.
- Transport for London.
- The London Development Agency.
- The Commission for New Towns (housing matters only).
- English Partnerships (some housing and planning matters only).
- The Norfolk and Suffolk Broads Authority.
- Stonebridge Housing Action Trust.
- The Environment Agency (flood defence and land drainage matters only).

4 What can't we investigate?

There are some things we may not investigate, such as when there is a more appropriate organisation to deal with your complaint or if we don't have the power to do so. But the law is complex on this. If you are in doubt, send us your complaint and we will tell you whether we can deal with it. Or you can phone our Adviceline on 0845 602 1983 or look at our website.

5 What does the Ombudsman look for?

The law says the Ombudsman must look for 'maladministration' by a council that has caused you 'injustice'. This means something that the council has done wrong, or failed to do, that has directly affected you. But we cannot question whether a council's decision or action is right or wrong simply because you disagree with it, and we may not investigate your complaint if we decide that the injustice is only slight.

6 How do you complain to the Local Government Ombudsman?

Please send your complaint to the Ombudsman for your area, using the form in the centre of this leaflet or via our website (www.lgo.org.uk/complain.htm).

There are notes on pages 4-5 to help you use the form. Or you can write a letter including all the points covered in the form. Complaints must be in writing. If this is difficult, ask someone to help you, for example your local Citizens Advice Bureau or a councillor. If you cannot write your complaint in English, we can arrange to have it translated.

You may get someone to complain for you (for example, a friend, relative or solicitor) as long as they have your permission to represent you. But, if you employ a professional person, such as a solicitor, we will only ask the council to pay the fee in exceptional circumstances. This is because people do not usually need a professional to put a complaint to us. However, you may be eligible for help from a solicitor or some advice agencies through the Legal Services Commission's Legal Help Scheme.

If you have any documents to support your complaint, such as letters from the council, please send them with your complaint. You may want to send us photocopies instead. Please let us know if you would like us to return them to you.

We will usually send a copy of your complaint to the council concerned.

7 What happens next?

When we have received your complaint, we will usually write to acknowledge it within five working days, explaining what will happen next. If you do not hear from us within that time, please telephone the office where you sent the complaint.

8 What other ombudsmen are there?

Equal opportunities

We are committed to giving an equal service to all. This means we will not treat you any differently because of your: sex, colour, race, nationality, ethnic group, regional or national origin, age, marital status, disability, political or religious belief, sexuality or class.

Notes to help you fill in the complaint form

1 How to make your complaint

Please fill in the complaint form as fully and clearly as you can. You can ask someone to help you, such as a Citizens Advice Bureau or a friend or relative. If you prefer, you can write a letter instead of filling in the form. If you do that, please give us the same information that we ask for on the form. It will also be helpful if you send us copies of any letters or documents about your complaint.

You can also fill in the complaint form online. Go to www.lgo.org.uk/complaint_form.htm, where you can complete the form directly on screen, or download the form as a Word document and email it to us at enquiries@lgo.org.uk. (Please note that you cannot send attachments if you complete the on-screen form.)

At all our offices, we welcome calls from textphone users using Typetalk.

If you need more advice or help on how to make your complaint, please phone the Adviceline on 0845 602 1983. If you have real difficulty filling in the form yourself and cannot get help, our advice staff can take down your complaint over the telephone.

More background information, including summaries of our reports on cases, and all our publications are available on our website, www.lgo.org.uk

2 When to make your complaint

You should complain to us within 12 months of when you first knew about the matter you are complaining about. If you leave it later, we may not be able to help.

3 Daytime contact number

Please put in the telephone number where we can contact you between 9am and 5pm. Tell us if it is your home or work, or the number of a neighbour or friend. If you do not have a daytime contact number, please put down a number that has an answerphone where we can leave a message during the day. If you do not have any of these, please leave this section blank.

4 Council or authority

Under 'Which council or authority are you complaining about?' please write the name of the organisation you want to complain about. It might not be a council. The list of organisations and authorities that we can deal with is on page 3.

* Please note that calls may be recorded for training and quality purposes.

5 Have you complained to the council?

In most cases, before we can investigate a complaint, the council must have a chance to answer it. If you have not complained to the council, please do so. You can find out how to complain from the council's offices or you can ask a councillor to help.

If you are not satisfied with the answer, or if the council does not give you an answer within a reasonable time, you can complain to the Ombudsman for your area.

In some urgent cases, including education admission appeals, we may be able to deal with your complaint straight away. (There is further information about education admission appeal complaints on our website at www.lgo.org.uk/complain.htm)

6 Where to send the form

There are three Local Government Ombudsmen in England. Please send your complaint and the attached monitoring form to the office of the Ombudsman who deals with your area.

Don't worry if you send your complaint to the wrong office. We will pass it to the correct one straight away.
